

Whalers Commit but Two Fouls in Eliminating Somerville at Tech

New Bedford, English Top Somerville, Classical To Gain Tech Hoop Final

By WILL CLONEY
New Bedford High outdistanced Somerville High, 41-30, and Lynn English outbattled Lynn Classical, 21-16, last night in the Hoop Gym to reach the final round in the 14th annual Tech interscholastic basketball tournament. The final will be played tonight at 8 o'clock.

Led by "Butch" Riley and "Red" White, the whalers committed but two fouls in eliminating Somerville's victory streak of 12 straight. Only two fouls were called against the visiting whalers, and Somerville could not convert either.

BOGART, NICKTAKIS ENGLISH HEROES
New Bedford showed remarkable sportsmanship at all times, fighting the game but never fouling. The game was a close one in the last two minutes after Somerville staged a brilliant comeback.

AT THE END OF LONG BUT WINNING SEASON

LEHIGH SETS PACE ON MAT

Daughaday, Boston of Harvard Reach Eastern Final Bout

NEW HAVEN, C. March 10 (AP)—Nothing short of a catastrophe, it appeared tonight, could possibly have kept Boston from winning the 15th Eastern Intercollegiate leghwrestling tournament. Tonight's wrestling title bout, however, proved five men in the final and with four points to their credit on falls scored this afternoon, they will be the favorites to come through as second champions.

YALE, HARVARD LEAD PLACE FIGHT
The Mattituck Lion of Penn State took as the greatest threat to Lehigh's chances with three wins in the final brackets, and two of them, Johnny Craddock and Frank Conroy, will not be forced to face Lehigh's opposition. Joe Seaton is slated to battle with Hal Brown of Lehigh for the 145-pound title and it should be one of the highlights of the meet.

ARMY, SYRACUSE TAKE RING LEAD
Qualify Seven Men Each in Eastern Semi-Finals
SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 10 (AP)—Placing seven men each in the semi-finals of the national intercollegiate boxing championships, West Point and Syracuse University looked unbeatable as even contenders for the team title now held by the University of Michigan.

Exeter Has Slight Edge Among Prep Schools
Special Report by the Herald
BRUNSWICK, Me., March 10 (AP)—Newton, N. H., was the favorite in the 100-yard dash at the Newton and Exeter prep school meet, held here tonight.

Yale Mermen Visit Harvard Tonight Seeking Triumph for Eastern Title
Fresh from a 42-33 victory over Princeton, Yale mermen will invade the Harvard pool tonight in an attempt to earn the Eastern Intercollegiate swimming title. Although Harvard was beaten by Princeton's 100-yard freestyle, the mermen are confident that tonight's visit will be counted on for eight points apiece, and may produce 10. Yale's mermen were victorious in the 100-yard relay team in the stronger, but Harvard may surprise in the final 500-yard relay.

GREEN MERMEN SINK NAVY, 56-19

Outrigger and Julian Prove Dartmouth Stars

NEW HAVEN, C. March 10 (AP)—The Green Mermen of Yale University defeated the Navy, 56-19, in a swimming match tonight in the Hoop Gym. The mermen were led by Outrigger and Julian, who proved Dartmouth stars.

RIDING THE SKI TRAILS
Looks like a really good week-end coming up. Another storm headed this way may eradicate the present local and southern New England snow with rain, but in New Hampshire, Vermont and western Massachusetts the new cover from Thursday's storm should hold intact and may even be increased by new snow Sunday.

These men are in again—in the headlines: Once more the paths of Glenn Cunningham and John Borican cross. The two standouts in the 100-yard dash at the Newton and Exeter prep school meet, held here tonight.

Both Cunningham and Borican will try for "double" glory this time as they seek the seventh straight Columbia mile win and Borican will take on Dick Gill, Charlie Bertone, Bill Price and Jim Stewart in the 600, 1000, 1500 and 2000 yard races.

Jimmy Hagan, outstanding athlete at Lynn English high school in Lynn, Mass., is expected to lead the 100-yard dash at the Newton and Exeter prep school meet, held here tonight.

Arthur Mahan, former Villanova captain and Somerville High first baseman, will lead the 100-yard dash at the Newton and Exeter prep school meet, held here tonight.
