Cover: Harold and Andrea Hatch of Castine are undoubtedly the fastest couple in Maine road racing today. Harold, who will turn 40 in October, is a 2:40 marathoner, and his wife, 35, has run the distance in 3:16. In the recent Blue Hills 10 kilometer Race with 86 running, he placed 1st overall and she was second among the women. A native of Maine, Harold is athletic director at Middlesex School in Concord, Mass. Andrea coaches cross-country running and skiing at the same institution.

Maine Runner (ISSN 470-290) is published every third week for $12.00/yr. by Rick Krause, P.O. Box 78, Pittsfield, Me. 04967. Second-class postage paid at Pittsfield, Me. 04967. Postmaster send address change to above address.

Editorial

The many races that took place on July 4th, in addition to the weekends before and after, created quite a large input of results for publication and I am doing the best I can to get most of these results listed in this issue. This means that I must cut back somewhat on the articles and other pieces of information which helps to give the publication a more thorough representation of the sport. As I mentioned in the last issue, I don't have to rely on cross-country skiing in order to fill 44 or whatever pages of Maine Runner.

Anyone who subscribed or re-subscribed after July 20th and payed the old rate, $10.50, will receive 15 issues. It is simpler this way, rather than asking for another $1.50.

Good, clear black and white photos of runners in action are always welcome, particularly because I do not have a good camera. Also, input like this will allow me to have shots of a variety of events, rather than only those which I travel to. The person taking the pictures will receive proper recognition under the photos, as has been done in the past.

I hope everyone realizes that the businesses which advertise in Maine Runner are for the greater part contributing directly to the sport by making it possible for this publication to exist. It is true that some of these businesses benefit somewhat from these ads, yet for many of them, their money is purely a donation to Maine running. They deserve a considerable amount of credit and thanks for their generosity. I hope that you will do me a personal favor and do your business with the people who put their hard-earned investment into Maine Runner. Needless to say, you runners are major supporters as well.

Start your engines.

Home-made Ice Tea
(try this after a sweaty run)

Place medium size pan, 1/2 full of water on heat. Throw in 8 tea bags. Bring to a steam and stir occasionally. Turn off heat and let it cool. Throw out tea bags.

Ad 1 small can of frozen lemonaid and 7/8 cup of sugar.
Stir well and empty contents into a plastic gallon jug. Fill the rest of the jug to the top with water and mix thoroughly.

It's cheap and may help you save enough money for your next $3.00+ road race.

After making a name for himself as a runner at Bowdoin College, Bruce Freme, a Caribou native, is now in contention among the best runners in Maine. In the July 8th Camden 10,000 Meter Road Race, Bruce narrowly lost to talented Connecticut runner Amby Burfoot. Bruce now runs for the Athletic Attic Track Club. (photo by Camden Herald)

A 17-year-old with a bright future in running is Steve Ridley from Solon. Steve placed 4th in 42:09 at the Dexter 7.2 Miler and 3rd in 33:25 at the Waterville Rotary July 4th 6-Miler. (Gazette photo-Lord)

A 10 Kilometer wheel measured course running through the small village of Kingfield, the gateway to Sugarloaf/USA and the splendid Western Mountains of Maine. The course which is 70% flat and 30% easy rolling terrain is truly a beautiful run. Over 3 miles of the course has full views of the 4,000 foot mountains that make up the Longfellow Range in this scenic area. — A treat you will not forget.

The field of competitors in this event has been bolstered by the following world class runners who have accepted invitations to run in Natural Light's Kingfield 10K: Joan Benoit, winner 1979 Boston Marathon, in record time; Bob Hodge, third place '79 Boston Marathon, first place Mt. Washington Climb; Dick Mahoney, tenth place '79 Boston Marathon; Vinnie Fleming, 1979 New England AAU one mile champion and fifth 1977 Boston Marathon; Scott Graham, third 1979 Wheeling 10 Miler, Wheeling, West Virginia.

These world class runners will give a free running clinic on Sunday morning sponsored by Natural Light beer at 10:00 a.m. at the Sugarloaf Inn. So come run with and learn from the best: Benoit, Hodge, Mahoney and Graham.

A race in this resort area offers runners the opportunity to take a mini running vacation at a low price. Please note sample 2-night packages available at the Sugarloaf Inn, Palace In The Wilderness and Red Stallion on fact sheet on opposite page. (Please call lodges directly for reservations). There are many activities to compliment your stay here. They include canoeing (rentals), gondola rides, tennis, swimming, and hiking. An added feature for Saturday afternoon is the Summer's End Fly-In at the Sugarloaf Regional Airport. Showing the girls the route in the Tour Du Lac, Bucksport, is 16-year-old Margaret Clapper, one of the several high calibre runners in the family. One of the best school-girl runners in Maine, Margaret proves to be stubborn in her own territory. The course goes by her house. (photo by Rick Krause)

Rising upward in the ranks of womens running is Carol Roy of Bangor. The 30-year-old school teacher recently won the July 14th Paul Bunyan Marathon in 3:22, and two weeks later won again at the Hancock Lobster Classic, a 10.2 mile test. Running with Carol (R) in this photo taken at the 1978 Brewer 16-Miler, is Anne Norton, a noted fun-run organizer, race director (Tour Du Lac) and coach from Bucksport. (photo by Rick Krause)

Alex Wasilewski - race director

Sugarloaf Mountain . . . John Estle, 27, of Middlebury, Vermont, out ran a field of 36 to win his first Sugarloaf/USA Uphill Climb, Sunday, in 32 minutes and 47 seconds. The time was nearly three minutes off the record set two years ago by Estle's teammate and two-time winner, Keith Woodward of the North Country Athletic Club of Littleton, New Hampshire. Two Auburn, Maine competitors tied for second place with times of 35 minutes and one second. They were Daniel Campbell, 27, and Ralph Fletcher, both run for the Androscoggin Harriers Club.

In the women's competition Liz Carey of Rumford, Maine, set a new record with a time of 37 minutes and 34 seconds. A U.S. Nordic Ski Team member, Carey chopped nearly 15 minutes off the old record set by Patty Jacobs of Farmington, Maine. The top four female runners all broke the old record. In second place was Robin Estey, 16, of Stratton, Maine (39 minutes, 38 seconds) followed by Patty Jacobs, 30, (43 minutes, 54 seconds), and Jane Davis, 15, of Iselin, New Jersey.

The race was run under ideal weather conditions with temperatures of 72° at the base and 60° at the top.
