

The season has barely started and all ready it looks like a banner year for Maine runners and the sport in general. The Nike Maine Coast Marathon was a huge success despite the fact that many great marathoners were turned away because of the self imposed field ceiling, Andy Palmer keeps sneaking back across the border to blow the doors off course records, it looks like the Bunyan will finally get certified thanks to the efforts of Skip Howard and Larry Allen, and more and more dates and new runners crop up across the map.
