Harvard Over Yale

PRINCETON - Pete Morgan, the dedicated track and field man from Trenton and Princeton, suspects that Yale's five-year domina tion of the Heptagonal Games will come to a screeching stop tomor w afternoon at Palmer Stadium

The eight Ivy League schools plus Army and Navy will come in the 29th annual Outdoor Championships at Princeton for he first time since 1955. While Yale is the pick once again in me quarters, Pete likes Harvard's chances of unset ert and ending Ole Ell's supremacy. Coach Mergan beres that both Army and Navy will give a good accou res and that these four teams will cop most of the honors ch all of the returns are in around 5 p.m.

Field House A Beauty All of the Princeton coaches are elated over the near completion of the gorgeous new Charles Caldwell Field House. The facility will be officially dedicated this Fall at one of the football ames in memory of the late, great grid coach who guided Nassau turing one of its greatest pigskin eras.

The Track, Baseball and LaCrosse teams already dress daily of the new field house and the football squad is due to check in early this Fall following the return from Blairstown. Nine training fishes are included, along with three body whicheals, two arm whirlpools, infra-red and ultra soulc equipment, assuring the Princeton athlete of getting first class treatment should in-

Harvard, Yale, Army and Navy are strong in track and field because of the major emphasis placed on the sport in both outdoor and indoor competition. Princeton is definitely handicapped without a cage. Dartmouth is the latest Ivy League school to add this andid type arena to train its athletes indoors in the hitterest at of Saturday's meet, Coach Morgan suspects, will be Harvard's Nigerian whiz, Aggery Awori, who has been clocked in 9.7 in the century, 21.1 in the 229-yard dash, and 14.0 in the high burdles. He has also broad-immed 24 feet and six inches. Awari might very well total 24 points by his lonesome if he hits cond place counts four points, in the cellegiate 6432-1 searing' figuring.

The Crimsons also have another top notcher in Chris O'Hiri, who has broad jumped 24 feet and triple-jumped 49 feet. This is the modern tag tied to the old hop, step and jump event. Art Doten of Harvard has tossed the hammer 192 feet, Hank Hatch will enter the javelin throw and the hurdles. Army's Clark Ballard has turned in a 189-foot performance in the hammer throw. Harvard's John Bakkenson and Army's Jim Sarn should finish onetwo in the discus throw since their best efforts to date are 169 leet and 160 feet, respectively.

Navy's Mike Berkowitz, and Yale's Charles Mercela are the best shot putters on record in the 19-team duel. Army has a fine pole vaniter in Dick Plymate, while Princeton's Charles Mitchell, provided he isn't hampered by an ankle sprain, loom as the best bets in the pole vault. Playmate has vaulted 15' 8", while Mitchell owns a 15-feet jump. The Midshin Jim Axiell will challenge Awori in the broad jump. Harvard has another top third triple jumper in Hobie Armstrong, the brilliant haliback, Princeton's John Hartnett is the fellow to beat in the high jump.

Speedy Sprinters

Other top performers in the 100-yard dash will be Army's Joe Almageris, who has also run in the century in 9.7, Navy's grid whiz John Sai, and Princeton's Hugh MacMillan and John Ball, who is fighting a side bout with poison ivy. In the 220, Joe Collin of Columbia will probably extend Awori the strongest followed by Sai and Ball. Yale has a standout quarter-miler in Wendell Motley, a native of Trinidad. Cornell's Fran Smith leads the 880yard run ticket followed by Navy's Noel Bing and Brown's Dave Rumsey. Army's Bill Straub and Yale's Bobby Mack will lock horns in the mile run and the two-mile marathon event. Dave Farley of Brown, Nigerian Steve Machooka and Ed Meeahan of Harvard will seek to upset the favorites.

Awarl's chief threat in the high hurdles should be Bill Flippin of Yale, Hatch of Harvard and Courtland Gray of Navy, who is also the man to beat in the 440-yard hurdles. Yale is heavily favored to win the mile relay event with Navy the likely top

Field events get under way at 12:30 p. m., while trials in the track events start an hour later. Now, if only the weather will come up clear a fine turnout seems assured.

It was easily Robinson's best might and gave every indication that his bat, ustally rather quiet in April, is beginning to point toward the ball like a divining rod.
